CASAS Reading, Math, and Listening Tests Receive NRS Approval Extension to February 2, 2019

The U.S. Department of Education has granted National Reporting System (NRS) approval through February 2, 2019, to these CASAS tests.

READING

- Life and Work Reading
- Beginning Literacy Reading Assessment
- Secondary Level Assessment for Language Arts
- Reading for Citizenship

MATH

- Life Skills Math
- Secondary Level Assessment for Mathematics

LISTENING

- Life and Work Listening 980 Series

The U.S. Department of Education employs rigorous federal standards in its evaluation of all adult education assessments. Numerous education and workplace training programs know they can rely on CASAS for valid and reliable assessment of their learners' skills and abilities. Through the federal validation process, these programs are assured that CASAS provides every student and every worker an exceptional opportunity to achieve their employment and educational goals.

CASAS is pleased to announce that it has developed an outstanding new reading and new mathematics series, the GOALS (Greater Opportunities for Adult Learning Success) series. The new Reading GOALS series and the Math GOALS series are currently under review for NRS approval by the U.S. Department of Education.

The complete notification of the extended NRS approval for CASAS assessments is available in the Federal Register.
